HMC offers free seminar on dental implants

Some 40 million Americans about half of the adult population over 55 — have lost some or all of their teeth. Many who lose their teeth face up to 30 or 40 years of wearing dentures, which can mean serious oral health problems for senior citizens.

"Tooth loss results in an inevitable shrinkage of gums and jawbones which can lead to decreased chewing function, subtle malnutrition, social withdrawal and emotional distress," said oral surgeon Richard Akin, DDS.

Dentures place constant pressure on the jawbones, accelerating shrinkage and causing dentures to wobble and click because they no longer have a solid foundation.

Dental implants are permanent tooth root substitutes which provide an anchor for artificial replacement teeth, dentures or bridges. The implants are made from a variety of materials including titanium, sapphire and ceramic-like substances.

Hancock Medical Center will offer a free community education seminar on the advantages of dental implants presented by Dr. Akin Friday, April 11 at 11 a.m. in the new Business and Education Complex classroom. Call 466-3391 for reservations.

"Implants provide many distinct benefits," said Dr. Akin. "Most importantly, they restore a patient's ability to chew and speak properly. Implants significantly reduce direct pressure on the gums, nerves and jawbones, providing a successful solution to tooth loss."

Not everyone who is missing teeth is a good candidate for dental implants. Persons prone to infection because of health problems or people who are unable to maintain stringent oral hygiene are not recommended for implants. Nor should implants be considered for children or teenagers whose bones have not fully matured.

Command wins prestigious Navy award

The Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command, with headquarters at Stennis Space Center, has won the Navy's highest recognition for equal employment opportunity (EEO).

On March 24, the Department of the Navy selected the command as its winner of the 1997 Nathaniel Stinson Affirmative Action Leadership Award. Secretary of the Navy John Dalton formally bestowed the honor during a ceremony at the Pentagon April 1.

The command — which includes 1,420 civilian employees among its 3,000 personnel — was selected for its significant contributions in the areas of human rights, race relations, equal opportunity, affirmative action, human resources and/or public programs tailored to meet the unique and diverse needs of the command and its activities. The Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command is comprised of nearly 60 activities worldwide.

Special interest emphasis programs supported by the command's activities in 1996 included several community education programs aimed at sharing science and technology and promoting diversity among the young men and women who will comprise tomorrow's workforce. Among these were:

- the JASON Project, an electronic science field trip sponsored by the JASON Foundation for Education in conjunction with industry, government and academia which annually reaches approximately one million students and teachers worldwide;
- Project Marco Polo, a Navy/National Geographic Society partnership which sends American students and teachers on an overseas learning adventure aboard an oceanographic survey ship;
- the Smithsonian Institution's Natural Partners initiative to bring the National Museum of Natural History's collections to classrooms electronically via a "museum without walls";
- The "Adopt-A-Ship" program which introduces young people in selected classes nationwide to oceanographic survey practices, life at sea and foreign ports;
- "Operation School Tour" which introduced over 200 students from the Norfolk, Va., area to Navy meteorology and oceanography;

• "Operation School Tour" which introduced over 200 students from the Norfolk, Va., area to Navy meteorology and oceanography;

oceanography;

- NETDAY '96 in which California schools were connected to the Internet;
- and a "Wheelchair Basketball" game designed to help command members appreciate how people with disabilities overcome physical challenges.

The Nathaniel Stinson Award Program was established in 1989 by the chief of naval operations and is open to all Navy commands and activities employing U.S. citizens. The program is named for a former Navy civilian engineer who was the first principal EEO officer for the former Naval Materiel Command.

Nathaniel Stinson EEO awards are annually presented to commands and Navy/Marine Corps activities who have stepped outside normal processes to maintain and recruit a professional and productive work force that is inclusive and supportive of diversity.

Awards are given in two categories: the overall command leadership award and individual activity awards for program achievement and special recognition.

The Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command's largest subordinate activity, the Naval Oceanographic Office, received an award for program achievement in 1994. The office is also located at Stennis Space Center.

Cell phones in county buses

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Chugging down the rural roads of Hancock County won't be the isolated task it's been for school bus drivers next year.

The county school board has voted to install cellular telephones in school buses that traverse the more isolated routes of the country.

It's a safety measure, says School Board President Cheryl Bennett.

About 40 of the county's 60 buses will be equipped with the phones, enabling drivers to dial the sheriff, 911 emergency officials, school officials or the school transportation office.

She said such a system will be handy to report bus breakdowns or student misbehavior on buses.

It would have been useful, she added, to advise a bus of a road washout several months ago. Since school officials had no way to contact the bus driver, the vehicle was forced to back down a long, narrow road that had become impassible.

But such emergencies are the only kinds of calls the board will allow to go through. No personal chatter is acceptable under the newly adopted policy.

Bennett said school officials will be able to review the usage of each telephone through a computer printout.

USMGC Internet course

Students can get an introduction to the information superhighway through a University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast's Division of Continuing Education course April 28.

"Internet and Web," an overview with demonstration of Internet and Web procedures, will be taught at USM's Jackson County Center April 28, 8 a.m.-3 p.m. Cost is $79.

For information or to register, call (601) 865-4508 or (601) 497-5135.

way. The candidate selected must get approval of aldermen. "I don't want to be rushed into a decision," said McDonald. He said this time the city would most likely look for a candidate who has a degree in physical education.

In other business, aldermen voted to pay half the estimated $2,391 cost to make the south side of the Library handicap accessible.

The city also decided to retain the services of Capozzoli and Associates, a geotechnical consulting firm, for soil borings and other studies at the Small Craft Harbor. The $10,750 fee will come out of Tidelands monies already available.

McDonald said the firm "will evaluate what needs to be done at the Harbor in the future, and make recommendations."

Aldermen also agreed to put out to public bid the paving of the southeast parking lot at the harbor.

McDonald said the work will also be paid for with the $275,000 Tidelands funds the city received this year.

CUEVAS' QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

You many want to make a note now about advancing your clock Saturday night for the time change.

"Spring forward" is the thing to remember.

I can still recall folks reporting for church on time change Sunday and arriving as the services were ending.

So, this is just a reminder of the time change Saturday night.

Tabitha Thomas, a first grade teacher at North Bay Elementary, visited the grounds Tuesday to discover more vandalism with the school's garden project.

Last Thursday, Thomas' class completed their section of the garden. This included bedding plants of many colors.

The plants were donated by the students' parents, and each student in the class had a hand in the planting project.

Guess what! Vandals removed the some 50 individual plants since the planting last Thursday.

The plantings of the flowers give teachers an extra opportunity to give students hands-on experience in helping the environment in a beautification project which is very educational.

Another aspect of the project is that teachers and students, along with the support of parents, are all trying to make the school grounds look like a showcase.

The project started when the school obtained a small grant, and some rose bushes were planted on the grounds. These were stolen several weeks ago.

I just wonder what will be going through the minds of the youngsters when they discover now that their flowers too have been stolen.

The culprit or culprits need to be caught and pay the price they so dearly deserve. What kind of an example are we showing these six-year-olds?

Come on folks, someone should know something about who may be doing the vandalism.

If you have an idea of who may be a suspect, please give the Bay Police Department a call at 467-9221.

The culprit or culprits need to be caught, period.

A big Paint the Can contest is being sponsored by the Old Town Bay St. Louis Merchants Association with a theme of Life in Hancock County.

The contest is limited to 30 entrants with a registration fee of $5.

First prize is $100, second $50, and third place $25.

The rules include high school students, older individuals or teams and use of original art only.

The Old Town Merchants' Association provides the cans and entrants provide the paint.

Registration forms and information is available at Benigno's Deli, Blaize Avenue, or Emerald Bay, Beach Boulevard.

The cans will be donated to the City of Bay St. Louis for litter barrels. It all sounds like an interesting project.

Volunteers are still needed for Hancock County's Christmas in April project scheduled for Saturday, April 26.

Three homes are to be refreshed, one in each Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Clermont Harbor. They are owned and occupied by disabled and/or elderly persons who are unable to repair them themselves.

To volunteer, call Suzi Beatrice, 466-8111; or Jimmy Loiacano, 463-7120.

There still is a need for cash donations and building supplies, and for further information call Basil Kennedy at 467-5282.

This will be the first projects for the organization in Hancock County, and all involved want it to be a great success.

If you can help in any way, it will be greatly appreciated.

By Margaret Williamson

ART SHOW

Plans are finalized for the Art Show Saturday, Apr. 5, 9 a.m.-3 p.m. at the community center. Donation at the door is $3 benefiting charity.

New this year will be a silent art auction. This is a great way to obtain that special piece of art you have always wanted. Refreshments will be served.

HEY KIDS

"A Little Princess" production (play) is being planned by Dick Alves at the Community Church with performances sometime in June. It will be a wonderful experience for all who participate. The play requires four boys and 11 or 12 girls between 6 and 18 years.

All are welcome to come to the church and audition Saturday, April 19 at 9 a.m.

If you have any dress-making skills, your assistance in helping with the costumes will be greatly appreciated.

Please call 255-7172 for more details.

SSC STAR TEACHER

Tom Ackerman, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Ackerman of Diamondhead, has been selected

Star Teacher by Timothy Baden, Star Student at St. Stanislaus.

Ackerman has taught English and/or Spanish since 1983 as well as being moderator of the yearbook staff, moderator of the Spanish National Honor Society and music minister.

SPOTLIGHT

"A character study" by the Bay St. Louis Little Theater salutes part-time thespian Martin Booda of Diamondhead in their March issue. You've all seen him in many Little Theater productions where he truly creates the character. Congratulations, Martin.

Don't forget the tryouts for Vanities April 4-5 at the theater on Boardman. The cast calls for three young women. Backstage help is also needed. Call Donna Mellott for information.

TRIBUTE TO SONGY

Robert Songy, an artist, poet, lover of everything beautiful on God's green earth, was not with us for very long. He died last year at only 58 years old.

We celebrate Bob's talented works and creations on Saturday, Apr. 12 at the Depot in Bay St. Louis. Reception open to the public from 6-8 p.m.

REMEMBER

Remember how you enjoyed the voices of the fledgling Bay Area Chorale? Well, now the Coast Chorale is a 60-member community chorus consisting of singers from Picayune to Ocean Springs. Their accomplished conductor is Joy Mehrrens with a master's degree in music from Loyola University in New Orleans.

The first of two Coast performances will be 3 p.m. April 13 at the First Christian Church in Gulfport.

MY THOUGHTS

A little more kindness, a little less greed

A little more giving, a little less greed

A little more smile, a little less frown

A little less kicking someone when he is down

A little more "we," and a little less "I"

A little more laughing, a little less cry

A little more flowers on the pathway of life, and fewer on graves at the end of the strife.

Care for each other — till next week.

Silver Tea

The annual Silver Tea fund raiser, sponsored by the Women of Christ Episcopal Church, will take place Sunday, April 6, from 2-5 p.m. at 721 North Beach Boulevard in Waveland. The event is open to the public. (Echo staff photo by Randy Ponder)

Silver Tea set for Sunday

The Waveland home of Julie Rosson, 721 North Beach Boulevard, will be the site of the 1997 Silver Tea of the Women of Christ Episcopal Church, Bay St. Louis. The tea, open to the public, will be Sunday, April 6 from 2-5 p.m. Coordinating plans for the event are co-chairpersons Carolyn Cross, Nannette Stroh and Ruth Carlson.

Rosson received the Mississippi Homebuilders Award of Merit for unique design and the Homebuilders Award for the best single family home over 2,500 sq. ft. for two consecutive years.

Rosson, along with Jack Hughes, designed this lovely pink Acadia-style five-bedroom, four-bath, 4,500 sq. ft. home situated among the oaks overlooking the Mississippi Sound.

Adjoining the main house is a 1,300 sq. ft. two-story guest house designed by Rosson along with Gene Mattingly. This home is the anchor of the new Acadia Bay development of 26 wooded lots. This subdivision will feature a common park and pool which is in progress.

The interior of the home features scored and stained concrete floors, heart pine Doric columns in the living room and a heart pine stairway. The kitchen features hand-molded Italian tile as well as a self-standing fireplace with cypress mantel. Three fireplaces and 8 ft. cypress doors throughout the downstairs highlight this spacious easy-living home.

Even with all of these amenities, the crowning feature is the view from nearly every room in the house of the sparkling water of the Sound.

The Silver Tea is one of the two fund raisers held by the Women of Christ Episcopal Church. Donations, dropped into a silver bowl, provide the funding for the many charitable works of the Episcopal women.

Music will be provided by harpist Monita McLemore of Ocean Springs.

For additional information contact Mary Kay Hubbard weekdays at 863-0677.

Even though this is a fund raiser for the women of the church, men are also invited and encouraged to attend.

Sierra group sponsors spring tours

The Coast Sierra group is expanding its "Gardening for Wildlife" spring tour to include locations throughout the Mississippi Coast.

On Sunday, April 6 from 2-6 p.m., scenic yards, organic gardens, water gardens and orchards will be featured in Pass Christian, Biloxi, Ocean Springs, Vancleave and Gautier.

Volunteers will be on hand at each location to identify trees and plants and to explain gardening techniques. Everyone is encouraged to wear comfortable shoes that can handle spring's seasonally wet ground. Admission is $2 per person for each year.

* Pass Christian stop No. 1:

The home of Craig and Deborah Dawkins, 22383 Meadowlark Drive, featuring two wooded acres with native azaleas, wild blueberry, wax myrtle, oaks, maples, bay trees and ferns.

From I-10, take the Menge exit 24 and turn south. Travel about 3 1/2 miles (bearing right at the three-way stop). Continue straight on Menge, past Pineville School on the left. Leawood Subdivision is 1/2 mile on the left. Continue past Leawood to the Pineville Presbyterian Church at 4476 Menge Ave. for parking. Then walk back to the entrance to Leawood and Meadowlark Drive. (From Hwy. 90, go north on Menge Ave. for about 2 miles, then park at the Presbyterian Church on Menge right).

* Pass Christian stop No. 2:

The combined yards of Georgia Byrne Kuhner at 22540 Fox Run Drive and her brother Julian K. Byrne III, as well as the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Tatum Jr. at 22484 Fox Run Drive. These three sites count as one and are all near Pineville Presbyterian Church on Menge Avenue.

The Kuhner yard has no lawn by design and features native plants and ground covers, as well as rock-reed filter system. A bunny trail leads from this garden to the pre-Civil War home and gardens of Byrnewood, Mr. Kuhner's brother's place.

Signs and volunteers will be available to guide visitors between these spots and over to the Tatum home at Tangled Oaks, where 10 magnificent registered live oaks are focal points. But this garden also features many azaleas, camellias, cypress trees, roses, tulips and perennials, plus a bamboo jungle.

From I-10, take the Menge exit 24 south approximately 3 1/2 miles to the Byrnewood Subdivision, on the right across from Pineville Presbyterian Church. (From Hwy. 90, go north on Menge for 2 miles to Byrnewood Subdivision on the left). Park at the church.

Thriffiley seeks sixth Council term

James C. (Jim) Thriffiley III, has announced that he is seeking his sixth term as Bay St. Louis District Two Councilman. Thriffiley and his wife Jean Ann have resided in Bay St. Louis for the past 31 years. They have three sons, James C. Thriffiley IV, M.D.; Todd N. Thriffiley, J.D.; and Tate

Thriffiley. Thriffiley has been a member of the St. Stanislaus High faculty for 31 years. He holds a BA from SLU and a master's of education from Loyola University of the South and continued graduate work at USM, Georgia Tech, Auburn, Iowa, and LSU in the areas of business, counseling and physics.

He is an independent insurance agent, and also holds a NASD license as a security dealer. He served for 10 years as Hancock representative on the Pearl River Community College board of trustees and is currently on the college's Development Foundation board of directors.

Thriffiley said, "During my terms, sewerage has been provided to all homes in District Two. I have opposed spot zoning. I believe that government should be fair and just to all persons regardless of financial standing."

Thriffiley said, road construction, maintenance and drainage are always a priority, as well as law enforcement and the continued development of recreational facilities in the city.

"I would like to remind everyone that they can still register to vote in the May 6 primary election. City Hall is open until 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday and until noon on Saturday, April 5."

Farve seeks third term

Thomas (Tom) Farve Sr., has announced that he is seeking his third term as Bay St. Louis Councilman for District Three in the May 6 Democratic primary.

Farve, a lifelong resident of Bay St. Louis, is married to Zettie Williams Farve, also of Bay St. Louis, and is the son of Peter and Elvira Farve of the city. They are the parents of "T.J." Farve Jr. and Jonique Farve. They are also the legal guardians of grandchildren Thomas Farve III and Tiffany Farve.

Farve is currently employed with Johnson Control World Services and has worked with various contractors at the John C. Stennis Space Center for the past 32 years.

Farve is serving in his 20th year as president of the International Association of Machinists Union at Stennis and is a certified mason, electrician, and mechanic through the Hancock County Vocational Center.

His community involvement includes serving eight years as winter director for Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Department, a commissioner of the Men's Basketball League; is past-president of the Men's Softball League; and served for four years as a Law Enforcement Officer for Hancock County.

Farve is a graduate of Valena C. Jones High School, Bay St. Louis, and is a member of St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church, Knights of Peter Claver and Hancock County Branch NAACP.

Farve said, "I feel that my past experience, involvement in the community, and the many improvements in District Three qualify me to continue to be your city councilman."

Bad news, good news . . .

River flood could hurt oysters

Mississippi River flooding and an open spillway northwest of New Orleans may spell disaster for the 1997-98 oyster harvest.

Oysters grow in the brackish (part salt) waters of the Sound, the waters of the Gulf of Mexico along the coastline.

As the water is diluted to become freshwater, they die, said Dr. David Veal, director of the Mississippi State University Sea Grand Advisory Service in Biloxi.

"If the Bonnet Carré Spillway stays open long enough, it will cause some oyster deaths, and it certainly will influence the oyster harvest for the rest of this season, and maybe some of next year," Veal said.

Oyster season typically lasts from September to April, and this year has been poor due to red tide. To date, the oyster harvest is valued at $2.3 million with 179,547 sacks landed, down from 326,037 sacks landed in the 1995-96 season.

The Bonnet Carré Spillway on the Mississippi River in Louisiana was opened March 17. It was done to prevent flooding in New Orleans and to protect the levees, said Jim Addison, New Orleans District Army Corps of Engineers spokesman.

The spillway diverts about 14 percent of the river into Lake Pontchartrain at a rate of 240,000 cubic feet a second. Lake Pontchartrain flows into Lake Borne, which empties into the Gulf of Mexico.

Through this path, the fresh waters of the flooding Mississippi River are diluting the brackish waters of the Mississippi and Louisiana Sound. Given proper conditions and enough time, part of the Gulf of Mexico from the mouth of the Mississippi River eastward will become freshwater.

Oysters can survive in freshwater for about a week before they start dying. While this would create a short-term disaster, the diluted saltwater should mean good news later.

The oyster harvest has been declining for more than 100 years in the Gulf because of the lack of freshwater," Veal said.

"With the spillway closed, freshwater cannot flow into the marshes east of the Mississippi River as it did before levees were built in the 1930s. Instead, brackish areas where oysters and young fish grow become too salty.

"That decreases the productivity of the oysters and increases the productivity of oyster pests," Veal said.

The added freshwater should restore the natural balance.

"Historically, when we have opened the spillway we have seen immediate loss of production followed by three to five years of record oyster production," Veal said.

The spillway has been opened just eight times in its 66 years. Bay control the amount of water that passes. The last time it was opened, May 20, 1983, all 350 bays were opened. As of March 27, the Corps had opened 298 bays at a rate of 15 to 40 a day, Addison said.

The spillway will probably stay open for a month, Addison said. By staying open, it is reducing the Mississippi River flood crest, currently at 16.8 feet, by a foot and a half to two feet.

It is impossible now to predict what effect the open spillway will have on oyster production, Veal said. The Sound also receives freshwater from the Pearl, Biloxi, Wolf and other rivers.

Addison said the Corps is conducting a $500,000 monitoring program of the open spillway's effects. The Corps will monitor the productivity of shellfish and other fish in affected areas.

Robert Bailey, Veterans Service Officer, DVA Medical Center, Biloxi, and the State Veterans Affairs Board will hold a town meeting for area veterans from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Thursday, April 17 at the American Legion Post 119 in Gulfport.

All veterans, dependents of veterans and survivors who have questions about or wish to learn more about the State Veterans Home, VA benefits, or treatment at a VA medical center, are encouraged to attend.

conducting a $500,000 monitoring

program of the open spillway's effects. The Corps will monitor the productivity of

shellfish and other fish in affected areas.

Robert Bailey, Veterans Service Officer, DVA Medical Center, Biloxi, and the State Veterans Affairs Board will hold a town meeting for area veterans from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Thursday, April 17 at the American Legion Post 119 in Gulfport.

All veterans, dependents of

veterans and survivors who

have questions about or wish to

learn more about the State Veterans Home, VA benefits, or treatment at a VA medical center, are encouraged to attend.

Historically, when we have opened the spillway we have seen immediate loss of production followed by three to five years of record oyster production," Veal said.

The spillway has been opened just eight times in its 66 years. Bay control the amount of water that passes. The last time it was opened, May 20, 1983, all 350 bays were opened. As of March 27, the Corps had opened 298 bays at a rate of 15 to 40 a day, Addison said.

The spillway will probably stay open for a month, Addison said. By staying open, it is reducing the Mississippi River flood crest, currently at 16.8 feet, by a foot and a half to two feet.

It is impossible now to predict

what effect the open spillway will have on oyster production, Veal said. The Sound also receives freshwater from the Pearl, Biloxi, Wolf and other rivers.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, APRIL 3, 1997-7

BETWEEN THE LINES

By Richard Meek

It's not often a weekend warrior has an opportunity to match his athletic skills against professionals in the same sport.

But more than 300 bass fishermen will begin a competition Friday that may eventually land one lucky individual a spot in a national bass tournament to match wits against some of the country's top professionals.

The Mississippi State Bass Federation Fish-Off is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, with the weigh station at Casino Magic. Friday's pairings will be announced tonight at the Magic Dome.

The scales are scheduled to close between 2:30-3:30 p.m. on both Friday and Saturday. Saturday's pairings will be announced on Friday night.

The fish-off will feature more than 300 of the state's top novice bass fishermen. Each bass fishing club was allowed to send 12 members to the tournament, although the Hancock County Bass Masters, which is serving as the host club, is sending only 10. There are approximately 46-48 bass fishing clubs in the state of Mississippi.

The top 12, which will be determined by cumulative weight over the two days of fishing, will earn berths in the regional competition, scheduled in Louisiana on the Red River.

At the regionals, the top fisherman from each state will earn spots in the Wrangler Nationals. The winner of that prestigious tournament will be guaranteed a spot in the Bass Masters Classic, which features the top professional bass fishermen in the country.

"It's an opportunity to go up against bass pros," said Bay St. Louis Police Chief and avid weekend fisherman Frank McNeil.

McNeil should know. In two of the last three years, McNeil has moved on to regional competitions at Toledo Bend in Louisiana and Lake of the Ozarks in Missouri.

The regional competition pits fishermen from Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, and oddly, Zimbabwe, Africa.

"It's great for weekend fishermen," McNeil said. "Guys like me, who get to fish on weekends, can't compete against the pros. This is a chance to test our skills against other weekend fishermen."

McNeil said 152 boats will launch from the Magic on both days, and weather permitting, have a free reign as to where to go chase their dreams.

However, he was quick to add that if weather threatened, the tournament director may restrict the fishing areas to the Bay of St. Louis.

Each fisherman will be allowed to catch seven fish a day, with a minimum length of seven inches, and the culminating weight will be tallied. McNeil said all of the fish are returned to the water after weigh-in.

McNeil added the Magic is donating $10,000 to the bass federation.

U-14 BAYS Cougars

Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development's Division of Tourism Development is promoting the state's vast outdoor resources by hosting a film crew from ESPN's North American Outdoors TV program.

The top-rated outdoor program, hosted by Bill Miller, will feature Miller as he tries to outsmart one of Mississippi's elusive Eastern wild turkeys at Circle M Plantation near Macon.

"We want sportsmen from around the nation to realize that for an excellent outdoor adventure, they should look to Mississippi," said state tourism director Vaughn Stinson.

"Our state not only has some of the best hunting and fishing available anywhere, but we also have an increasing number of very fine professional outfitters and guide services."

"Hunting and fishing activities support more than 9,300 jobs in our state. And, sportsmen generate more than $418 million in retail sales in Mississippi annually," said Stinson.

Eastern wild turkey is one of the most popular game species for both residents and non-resident sportsmen in Mississippi.

According to the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks nearly 30,000 turkeys were harvested in Mississippi during the 1996 season. MDWFP estimates the state's turkey popular at approximately 250,000.

Turkey season opened in Mississippi March 22 and will run until May 1.

Save money on boat insurance

A few simple steps could save you 10 to 20 percent or more on boat insurance, according to BOAT/U.S. (Boat Owners Association of The United States), the nation's largest organization of recreational boaters.

— Increase your deductible. The higher your deductible, the lower your premium. Don't use an insurance company for risk that you can afford to take yourself.

— Take a safe boating course. Training from organizations such as the U.S. Power Squadron and the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary often qualifies for insurance discounts. To find the course nearest you, call 1-800-336-2628.

— Install safety and security equipment such as automatic fire extinguishing systems and burglar alarms. Many insurers offer premium discounts.

For information about insurance for your boat, call 800-283-2883 or visit the BOAT/U.S. website at <http://www.boatus.com>.

Wildcats 15-13

The Pearl River Community College's Wildcats are 15-13 after last Friday's South Division doubleheader split with East Mississippi in Scooba.

PRCC also split with Belhaven College Thursday in Jackson.

Against EMCC, PRCC's Rossario Caruso of Picayune was the losing pitcher in going the distance in the 2-1 loss that saw the Wildcats generate only three hits. Rich Stampley and Tom Ondrejcek and Eric Langston singled for PRCC.

In the second game, a 5-3 victory — Michael Pruitt was the winning pitcher in relief of

IGNORE YOUR BACKACHE & SUFFER THE CONSEQUENCES.

Back pain, however insignificant it seems, is frequently the beginning of serious, painful problems. Problems such as pinched nerves, slipped disc, neuralgia, neuritis, (and sometimes arthritic type pains), tuberculosis and even paralysis.

The spine is a complex system of nerves, muscles, bones, ligaments and cartilage which are interconnected to control specific areas of the body. When the bones, or VERTEBRA are misaligned, they pinch the surrounding nerves, obstructing the flow of energy to other parts of the body. This often results in complications which can be severe and permanent.

Doctors of Chiropractic are experienced in treating patients with back pain. They can restore spinal vertebrae to their proper position, relieving pain and avoiding further serious complications.

When you have back pain, see Dr. Desmond W. Hoda.

Jubilation

County Tax Assessor Eddie Murtagh said the Gaming Commission should have been well aware of the problems Hancock County had in the past getting the Jubilation to pay delinquent taxes.

He vowed he will do "everything possible to legally protect the county," and informed the Echo that he has also asked the gaming commission to use its authority to insure that no additional equipment is removed from the vessel that sits in darkness and unguarded at the Bayou Caddy site.

Murtagh has also asked the Gaming Commission to take steps to help the county recover almost $275,000 in delinquent taxes owed to the county by Alpha Gulf Coast, the subsidiary of Alpha Hospitality Corp.

Agents for the Gaming Commission boarded and closed down the ship last July after reports it was unable to pay a slot winner).

News that equipment had been removed from the vessel came to light after Murtagh reported last week that Alpha Hospitality asked him for a complete accounting of back taxes owed on the boat, slot machines and other equipment aboard the Jubilation barge.

Following that story, a source, who asked to remain anonymous, said he personally went to the boat last Monday,

Tuesday and Wednesday "and unbolts 50 IGT slot machines."

He said he loaded the machines on to a John Favard truck for transport to Greenville, Miss., where the larger Bayou Caddy Jubilee casino now operates.

The source added that "computers, fax machines and other equipment are gone too."

Murtagh said he got wind of the intended removal of the machines before it actually happened, but rather than try to stop it, he consulted attorneys.

"I wanted to make sure that I was doing the legal thing," said Murtagh.

Sheriff Ronnie Peterson confirmed Murtagh told him that someone might try to remove equipment off the Jubilation barge, but the sheriff said he wasn't asked to intervene.

"He said he was going to talk to the attorneys about it, and if he needed me any further, he'd let me know," said Peterson.

The assessor furnished the Echo a typed report he submitted to supervisors about the impending transfer on March 28, three days before the property was carted off the premises.

In that report, Murtagh tells supervisors he got notice March 26 that a truck was removing equipment from the Jubilation boat, and he notified Gina Jacobs, the attorney representing Alpha Gulf Coast, that under state laws "they could not remove the boat or equipment without paying taxes due."

Murtagh said he also asked county attorney Gerald Gex to notify Sam Keyes, the Jackson-based attorney who had handled past negotiations with Jubilee over back taxes owed.

Murtagh asked Keyes to "notify the gaming commission of our situation and to solicit their help..."

Since last October, Murtagh said he notified by letter all parties that have equipment aboard the Jubilation and warned them nothing can be removed until all outstanding taxes were paid.

Besides Jacobs, letters were sent to officials of Alpha Gulf Coast, Bally Gaming Inc. in Las Vegas, General Electric Capital Corporation in Danbury, Conn., ITT Capital Finance Division in St. Louis, Mo., and Caterpillar, Inc., in Jackson.

Latest estimates furnished by Murtagh and sent to Alpha officials show the Jubilation still owes 1995 personal property taxes of $17,706, which was not covered by the surety bond the corporation had posted.

Personal property taxes assessed in 1996, which became delinquent on Feb. 1, amount to $219,628, with interest being assessed at one percent per month on the unpaid balance.

Under the law, the taxpayer has until Aug. 1 to settle the balance owed or the county assessor can auction off the property to the highest bidder.

Murtagh said Jubilation owes another $3,613 in Tidelands lease taxes due since 1995, and he has placed a salvage value on the boat and equipment for 1997, which amounts to $33,750. Technically, the 1997 taxes are not due until Feb. of 1998.

Murtagh repeated his vow to do "everything possible to legally protect the county," and raised the possibility of filing a lawsuit.

Yesterday, on Keyes' station, Murtagh wrote a letter that was later hand-delivered to Gen. Paul Harvey, Executive Director of the Mississippi Gaming Commission.

In that letter, Harvey was apprised of the tax arrears owed Hancock County by the Jubilation, and his help was solicited.

"Your assistance in the collection of delinquent taxes from these tax payers and in preventing the tax payers from removing such of their property as falls within your regulatory authority is requested," said Murtagh.

Navy weather information helps 'World Flight' soar

World Flight '97, aviator Linda Finch's recreation of Amelia Earhart's last flight, is soaring high with weather information provided by the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command.

Not only are the flight forecasts helping Finch fly safely, they are also introducing the science of meteorology to millions of school children who are following her around the world via the World Wide Web.

The "World Flight—You Can Soar" educational website (<http://www.worldflight.org/youcansoar/>) has averaged 1.2 million hits a day (40,000 hits an hour) since Finch took off March 17.

"It was easy to take the information we already provide to the Navy and make it available to World Flight participants via the Internet," said Navy Lt. Cmdr. Michael Dotson, meteorological services officer for the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command.

We are particularly excited about this project's educational aspect. It takes the science of meteorology and other distance learning programs we support men do an outstanding job to enhance the EMS system."

AMR will give $122,000 to Harrison County and another $85,000 to Jackson County, Shirley said.

Meteorological experts located at the command's more than 60 activities worldwide provide hundreds of flight forecasts, weather observations and climate summaries to naval operators daily.

From now through the end of May, that information is being posted to a home page maintained by the command's Naval Atlantic Meteorology and Oceanography Center in Norfolk, Va., and linked to the World

Flight '97 web site.

The site provides daily flight forecasts for World Flight's current points of departure and destination as well as observations of sky conditions, clouds, temperatures, winds and sea levels and climate summaries, including minimum/maximum temperatures and monthly rainfall for each area visited.

Users with Netscape version 3.0 or higher can also view a two-minute slide program depicting naval operations in meteorological situations. Viewers with less capable software may access still images of these subjects, which include missile launches, recovery and search, way replacement operations

Navy to award ocean adventure

The U.S. Navy is sending a Mississippi student and teacher to sea aboard one of its newest ocean survey ships as part of a national science education program.

On April 7, Navy Capt. Craig Peterson, chief of staff of the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command, will present the Project Marco Polo award during the Mississippi Science and Engineering Fair in Oxford. The special award recognizes and promotes excellence in marine science at the 7-9 grade level.

In July, the winner and his/her project advisor, along with 21 other students and teachers from Connecticut, Oklahoma and Texas, will depart from Lisbon, Portugal, aboard the oceanographic survey ship USNS Pathfinder.

For the next two and a half weeks, they will learn how the Navy conducts oceanographic surveys during a transit through the Mediterranean Sea.

The ship will serve as a hands-on learning center with expedition members working alongside Navy scientists and technicians. As they transit, participants will be exposed to Mediterranean's geography and cultures during port visits in Morocco and Greece. The expedition will conclude Aug. 9 in Athens, Greece.

Project Marco Polo is a partnership of the Navy and the National Geographic Society. For the past three years, the Navy has sponsored Mississippians through the state science fair system.

Teachers and students outside Mississippi are selected through the National Geographic Society's Geography Teachers' Alliance Educational programs, such as Project Marco Polo, to foster interest in science among young people who will comprise tomorrow's work force.

For more information about Project Marco Polo, contact the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command Public Affairs Office at (601) 688-4188.

USM's Department of Computer Science and Statistics will host the competition from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. Saturday, April 12 at the main USM campus in Hattiesburg.

The contest is modeled after the national scholastic programming contest for college and university teams sponsored by the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM).

Teams of four or fewer students will compete, using microcomputers. Depending on space, a school may enter more than one team.

Approved contest programming languages are Pascal, BASIC and C/C++. A team may choose to provide its own hardware and software or use a microcomputer and software provided by USM.

Entry forms may be secured by accessing the contest's World Wide Web site at: <http://ocean.st.usm.edu/~bisla/nd/pc.html>

Prospective participants also may contact Dr. Ralph B. Etha Faye, a student in the Business Technology Program at Hancock County Vocational Center, was recently named a local winner in the Servistar Coast-to-Coast All American Vocational Student awards program.

Paul E. Pentz, president/CEO Servistar Coast-to-Coast, said, "Students are judged on their vocational and academic achievements, leadership skills and community involvement. We are proud to help vocational education students obtain the recognition they deserve for their outstanding achievements."

Faye received a $100 savings bond and the chance to advance to the state level of competition. State winners will be announced at the end of April.

She recently attended the FBLA Southern District Leadership Conference where she competed in word processing and won first place. She will advance to the state level of competition on April 14-15 in Jackson.

PRCC Who's Who selection

The 1997 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Community/Junior Colleges will include names of 60 Pearl River Community College students who have been selected as outstanding campus leaders.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement,

Intramurals Night

The OLA seniors (Class of 1997) won the Intramurals Night competition between classes which Our Lady Academy holds annually.

Seniors win OLA intramurals

At the annual Intramural Night of Our Lady Academy held in March, the senior class (Class of 1997) captured first place with their theme Thriller — Senior Cemetery.

During the third quarter of the school year, each grade of OLA chooses a theme, makes a banner, prepares costumes, creates a dance and competes with each other at the evening activity for Best Spirit, Best Costume, Best Parade and Dance, Best Back-drop and Best Overall.

Individually in Olympic style, all six classes of OLA paraded into the St. Stanislaus gym to their theme's music. The students were all dressed in costumes and carried props and banners relating to their class theme. Parents and friends were present to view the presentation.

In addition to the Best Overall, the senior class won first place in costume and backdrop. The eighth grade, with their theme Adventures Through the Eighties, placed first in Best Parade and Dance and Spirit and second overall. The junior class won third place overall with their theme Juniors Strike Back.

The remaining classes chose the themes: Seventh Grade Space Jam, Freshmen Fire and Sophomore Space Jam.

National rankings are determined based on the various judges of each class. The judges are not race or gender specific.

Carey ranked

The National Parliamentary Debate Association (NPDA) has ranked the William Carey College Speech and Debate (Forensics) team ninth in the nation.

The NPDA is a national organization consisting of junior and senior colleges who participate in parliamentary debate (over 200 participating members). Schools are from all corners of the United States.

In parliamentary debate, teams receive a resolution and have 15 minutes to prepare either their affirmative or negative cases. Resolutions might cover either current events or philosophical topics.

In the typical tournament, a team will debate six different resolutions and will be affirmative three times and negative three times. The best teams (as determined by record) then advance to elimination rounds where they debate each other.

Through the process of single elimination, a team is declared the winner.

National rankings are determined based on the various judges of each class. The judges are not race or gender specific.

SSC Students of Month

St. Stanislaus has named the Students of the Month for January. Every month from September to May a student is recognized for becoming a "Man of Character" at SSC. These students, nominated by the faculty, have demonstrated sincerity, self-control, cooperation, achievement, effort and moral character as well as respect, courtesy and service. For January these students are, from left, Jason Santiago, eighth grade; Denny Li, sophomore; Stephen Peterman, freshman; Adam Brupbacher, seventh grade; and Fred Lewis, junior. Not pictured is Mike Mancuso, senior.

Simple exercises during workday can relieve stress

Work, stress and tension headaches — a combination of the three can make for an explosive and unproductive environment, not to mention related serious health problems.

Christine Stewart, a graduate instructor in the University of Mississippi Department of Exercise Science and Leisure Management, says a few stress-relieving exercises during the day can help alleviate the problems before they become serious.

"The combined effects from stress are serious — high blood pressure, excess eating, heart attacks, trouble sleeping, ulcers, irritability — but you can help prevent them," says Stewart, making the following recommendations:

• It's in the hands. Crunch your fists together as tight as you can for 10 seconds and stretch your fingers all the way out, spreading your fingers as far apart as possible. This is especially helpful for typists because tension can get down into the arms and fingers, she says.

• Rotate your neck. Tilt head from left to right, then bring head down to your chest and repeat right to left to relieve tension in the neck and top of the shoulders.

• Shrug it off. Lift shoulders to the ear and hold for 10 seconds to release tension in the shoulders, Stewart recommends.

• Raise those arms. Lift your arms, one at a time, over your head and behind your back to release tension in the back and arms.

• Protect your eyes. After working at a computer for more than 20 minutes you should look away from the screen for at least a minute to reduce the chance of headaches from eye strain, says the Ole Miss instructor.

• Remember the simple things. Other tips include keeping both feet on the floor and your back straight while working at a desk.

Children in grief program

To meet the unique needs of grieving young people, Slidell Memorial Hospice will hold a special six-week program in early April.

The Children's Bereavement Support Group is designed to provide bereaved young people with a "safe place" where they can better understand, express and cope with their grief. Meetings will be at the Slidell Memorial Hospice office at 1045 Florida Ave.

The free six-week program includes five support group meetings and begins April 3 with an introductory session just for parents. Then, beginning April 10, the support group will meet each Thursday evening through May 8. Each weekly session will be from 6:30-8 p.m. and the schedule is:

Apr. 3, Parent's Session and
